JOHN GLAMBECK
TELLS OF VISIT TO LETHBRIDGE

(By John Glambeck.)

After reading the invitation in The Call for farmers to visit the Lethbridge Experimental farm on July 15, I decided to go down, and as I have two daughters living in Lethbridge, I also made plans there thus killing two birds at one time so speak.

Well, I am very glad I went down. That farm is certainly worth seeing. At this time of year it was a bit dry prairie. Of course the transformation is chiefly owing to irrigation and the water filled ditches is what gives life to the whole thing.

There are a great number of magnificent looking poplars growing in various places in the farm situation, the growth, form and especially the size and height of these poplars is wonderful. My thoughts went back of my splendid poplar plantation that passed out after 15 years, dying from lack of water.

There are a number of fine grain plots on the irrigation land. Irrigation will do me also what vegetation on dry farming land will do. As I have no irrigation in my district that part did not interest me, but looked mostly over the dry farming plots and here a few facts about by years of experimentation, which are as follows:

Nine varieties have been established on dry land. These include the usual practice of the district of alternating wheat and fallow and two years of wheat after fallow, also a field planted in wheat every year. This is the best way to grow wheat manner. So far the manure and legumes in the rotations do not seem to have increased the yield of grain to any marked extent excepting in wet years. From the stand point of profit none of the crops have been as valuable as wheat.

The sealing of either alfalfa or sweet clover with a winter crop on dry land has not been satisfactory in any but the wettest years. In fact the difficulty of getting these crops established in dry seasons makes their growing difficult.

The field where wheat is grown every year maintained itself for ten years quite well, with good yields in wet years and poor yields when the season was dry.

Comparatively ploughed and unploughed fallows the yields of wheat have averaged 1.83 bushels per acre while on the unploughed fallows the yield was

The horticultural part of the farm was to me the most interesting part of all. The main purpose of this was to show how to make a small like of making an attractive farm home by the growing of trees, shrubs, flowers and vines, so that it may be comfortable and inviting as well as a pride to the owner.

There is now a large acreage on the farm containing apple, peach and small fruits, such as raspberries, currants, red, yellow and black, and strawberries. The fruit trees as well as the small fruit bushes were loaded with fruit. The crab apples and small fruit bushes I saw were quite well covered with fruit on the stems, but there were large numbers of standard apples, which I have not got, such as Wealthy, Duchesne, Yellow Transparent and others. Practically all the plum trees and sand cherry bushes were loaded down with fruit.

There were some apple vegetables owing to plenty of water and flower gardens. A very excellent variety of carrots, composed of carrots, asparagus, turnips, radishes, etc. were grown to show farms.

Several hours in the afternoon were set aside for speeches by the Hon. Wm. Minister of Agriculture and other notables. It looks as if a federal election would be coming before very long as these government office holders are touring the country preparing the ground for the coming battle.

SUGGESTS WAY TO IMPROVE
LOCAL CEMETERY

(Communicated.)

It has been very saddening to me for many years to see the will negligible state of our local cemetery, so to many residents and others have laid their loved ones to rest.

What an asset to the town and how it would gladden the hearts of those who visit and all who pass by if it could be improved into a better kept by organization of a voluntary committee who would be willing to devote a few hours alternately to keeping the weeds down and watering and caring for little flower beds, which might be cultivated and especially the graves of the dear ones of some one time residents of Gleichen who are now at rest.

It has been suggested a pipe line and water tap at the east end of the ground would be a great help. There is a large quantity of good earth in the east end of the Bogette farm at the south end of the town next to the Gleichen Hospital which would not take long to haul to the cemetery in trucks or wagons. If some kind farmers or residents would be willing. Also many people would be glad to donate a few slips or cuttings of shrubs and trees to plant around the graves. This would be a great service to all and would be gladened.

When one sees the wonderful improvement to the gardens and street of Gleichen since the irrigation has been installed, think what could be done to the "Little Spot" on the hill in a very short time of love and service.

AWAY

I cannot say, I will not say. They are dead, they are just away! With a cherub smile and a wave of the hand.

They have wandered into an unknown land. And left us dreaming how very fair, it needs must be, since they linger here.

And you, oh! You who the wildest year!

For the old time steps and the glad return,

Think of them jazing on as dear, In the love of there, as the love of a friend.

Think of them still the same, I say.

They are not dead, they are just away.

CARE OF THE STRAWBERRY PLANTATION AFTER FRUITING

(Experimental Farm Notes)

What to do with a strawberry plantation after it has been fruiting is a question frequently asked.

It is not possible to answer this question in my rule of thumb way; a great deal depends upon the condition of the plants. If the plantation is full of weeds, like couch grass, or it is very patchy it is better to plough it up. On the other hand, it is a well vine plantation, reasonably free of weeds, it may pay to practice renovation.

Renovation is accomplished in different ways but the general idea is that the strawberry plants is not really a true perennial and must be permitted to renew itself by the formation of new runners or the formation of a new crown with a new root system. If the old plants are not to be allowed to renew themselves it is necessary to remove the old plants and let the new ones come along.

He who is known, makes good friends on the one hand and bitter enemies on the other; gives evidence of the bold, independent, upright man who is content with himself; while the chicken-hearted, weak character is capable of making neither friend nor foes.

A Gleichen man informed us he has had a steady study of speed in his desire to accelerate and declared that 60 or even 70 miles an hour over good roads in the country may be safer than 15 miles an hour in cutting corners in town. The safe driver is not necessarily the slow driver, but one who uses his head, whether he is driving fast or slow. Charles while springing over, crossing pedestrains or other cars, crowding railroad tracks and manoeuvring in congested traffic is the greatest menace to life and limb. Sense, not speed, is the important factor in determining whether a driver is safe or unsafe.

For completeness and finality it would be hard to beat a report recently made to a mercantile agency regarding the credit standing of the Gleichen Chamber of Commerce.

The reporting correspondent wrote: "Credit O.K. He has been out of business some time. Also dead."

tangled at the Mamie corner with a car driven by Mrs. W. Schmidt of Gleichen, going west. Mrs. Schmidt's car was stuck near the front forcing the machine around so that when it came to a stop the front wheel hit Mr. Fay's rear round up on the ditch. No one was hurt, notwithstanding the fact that the Gleichen car was well filled with children returning from the lake, and the other car had two occupants. Both cars were damaged.

Grab Bag Buying

Remember your kid days . . . when you went to a bazaar or fair of any kind there was always a grab-bag—one of those mystical things you reached into and drew out a whistle, a lollipop, a doll or a toy of some kind. You never knew what you were going to get—but that was half the fun. You didn't care.

But now when you buy anything you want to be sure what you get. You can't take chances on grab-bag methods. You must know that your purchase will fit your need. But do you?

There is one way you can be reasonably sure of everything you buy. Buy advertised products. Look through the advertisements in this paper. They will give you the information necessary to intelligent buying. They will tell you what is new and best and why it will suit you.

Owing to the rain last Wednesday the Old Timers picnic held south of the Cluny bridge, was not as well attended had conditions been different.

After the rain stopped about 150 men, women and children gathered for a barbecue, pitchin' etc. Over 100 signed the register.

Jack Lester and Harry Schreyer are deciding their time just now facing us leaky fire hydrants. The way they go at it makes one think they enjoy doing around in the cool mud these days. Wonder if cars bump into these hydrants knocking them askew and causing them to leak.

Thousands of grasshoppers are daily hopping around the vacant lots. The next grasshopper fight will likely be staged right in town. It might be a good idea to bring a lot of chickens from the country and turn them loose on the hoppers.

Sunday was a great day for picnics at the old swimming pool at South Camp. At one time there must have been 75 people there. A large number of people from around were present and thoroughly enjoyed themselves splashing around in the cool waters of the swimming pool. Besides the Standard crowd there were people present from all over the country.

The last three or four days have been real hot summer days and as a consequence the lake is well patronized by bathers.

"Laying on hands" for complaints, especially in children, is now taking the place of Christian science. A Gleichen mother cured her son of the cigarette habit with one dose. She laid her left hand on the boy's neck, the right hand on one substantial slipper, and when she lifted the slippers it would not be good. It effected a cure and a relapse is not looked for.

A Gleichen elderly man in his farmers garb said to the reporter, "I want a little piece in your paper: Wanted a woman who can cook, wash, iron, milk our cows and manage a wagon." Reporter, "Well I state wages?" "Wages nothing." I want to marry her." Man wants but little here below.

The Battery boys returned from their two weeks training course at Sarce Camp and having enjoyed the outing. The boys were in charge of Lt. Col. A. G. B. Lewis.

A number of people left early this morning for Brooks to attend the U.P.A. convention.

During the past week on three different occasions accidents were narrowly averted at the corner known as Mrs. Pinder's corner. This corner is probably one of the most dangerous places along the main highway owing to the fact that Crowfoot Street does not meet the highway at a right angle and also that it is hard to see right coming in from the south owing to the trees. There are too many signs north of this junction. One a school warning located fully five blocks away and the other a danger sign the regulation distance from the corner. A lot of the drivers do not notice the signs and evidently they do not see the town either for they sail onwards from 40 to 60 miles an hour. One way to stop this high speed would be to have a rough road from the cemetery to the main track. This would be a better solution than the present one.

The spirit of reciprocity between man and machine, tradesmen and manufacturers, results every time in making the town a perfect one to do business in.

A perfect town is that in which you see people patronizing the home business, the workmen spending the money they earn with their tradesmen, and all animated by a spirit that they will not purchase articles the price of which is exorbitant.
